1. Introduction

Although the majority of children and young people participating in sport and active recreation programmes generally do so in a safe and positive atmosphere, Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI recognise that abuse can occur within many environments, including the home, school and sporting environment.

Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI recognise that they have a responsibility to safeguard the welfare of children and young people participating in their programmes.

1.1 Definitions

Child or Young Person: Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI define a child or young person as someone under the age of 18.

1.2 What is Abuse?

Abuse is any form of physical, emotional or sexual mistreatment or lack of care that leads to injury or harm. It commonly occurs within a relationship of trust or responsibility and represents an abuse of power or a breach of trust. Abuse can happen to a disabled person regardless of age, gender or race.

Somebody may abuse or neglect a disabled child or young person by inflicting harm or by failing to act to prevent harm. Disabled children or young people may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by a stranger. The main forms of abuse are outlined below.

Neglect:

In a general context:

- Where a person deliberately withholds, or fails to provide, appropriate and adequate care and support which is required by child or young person. It may be through a lack of knowledge or awareness, or through a failure to take reasonable action given the information and facts available to them at the time.
- It may include physical neglect to the extent that health or well-being is impaired, administering too much or too little medication, failure to provide access to appropriate health or social care, withholding the necessities of life, such as adequate food, clothing or failure to intervene in situations that are dangerous to the person concerned or to others particularly when the person lacks the capacity to assess risk.
- In some instances, it may occur if an individual is left alone or unsupervised.
- Individuals may also be deprived of love and affection.

In a sporting context:

- Where a child or young person's personal or intimate requirements are ignored, for example, if an individual needs assistance in having a drink, putting on warmer clothing, going to the toilet or has specific communication requirements.
- Where a child or young person is exposed to a dangerous situation, for example, because they are unable to see or hear or unable to move themselves from a situation.
- Where a child or young person's basic needs are withdrawn as a form of punishment, for example, disconnecting the battery on a battery powered wheelchair to prevent a sports person moving independently.

Physical Abuse:

In a general context:

- Physical abuse is the use of physical force or mistreatment of one person by another which may or may not result in actual physical injury. This may include hitting, pushing, rough handling, exposure to heat or cold, force feeding, improper administration of medication, denial of treatment, misuse or illegal use of restraint and deprivation of liberty.

In a sporting context:

- Where the nature and intensity of training or competition exceeds the capacity of the child or young person's immature and growing body and the nature of the child's impairment.
- Where children or young people are forced to take part in any sports or recreation activities against their will.

Emotional Abuse:

In a general context:

- Psychological / emotional abuse is behaviour that is psychologically harmful or inflicts mental distress by threat, humiliation or other verbal/non-verbal conduct. This may include bullying, harassment, threats, humiliation or ridicule, provoking fear of violence, shouting, yelling and swearing, blaming, controlling, intimidation and coercion.

In a sporting context:

- Where children or young people are subjected to unrealistic pressure by, for example a parent or coach, or bullied to perform to high expectations.
- Undermining of a child or young people's self-esteem through ridicule about being unable to do an activity because of their impairment.
- Ignoring a child or young person's right to privacy for personal or intimate care, especially if the child or young person is reliant on others for assistance.
- Any type of bullying by other sports people, coaches or volunteers.
- Not taking into account a child or young person's race or culture which may affect, for example, the type of sportswear they use.

- Constant domination of or denial of access to, facilities and equipment on the grounds of someone's disability.
- Talking about children or young people as if they are not there.

Sexual Abuse:

In a general context:

- Sexual abuse is any behaviour perceived to be of a sexual nature which is unwanted or takes place without consent or understanding. Sexual violence and abuse can take many forms and may include non-contact sexual activities, such as indecent exposure, stalking, grooming, being made to look at or be involved in the production of sexually abusive material, or being made to watch sexual activities.
- It may involve physical contact, including but not limited to non-consensual penetrative sexual activities or non-penetrative sexual activities, such as intentional touching (known as groping).
- Sexual violence can be found across all sections of society, irrelevant of gender, age, ability, religion, race, ethnicity, personal circumstances, socio-economic status or sexual orientation.

In a sports context:

- The child or young person requires personal care which involves intimate contact with another person. This situation could provide an opportunity for abuse to take place in a seemingly proper context.
- Inappropriate photography or videoing of disabled child or young person by anyone for their own sexual gratification.
- Contacts made within sport and pursued for example through texts, Facebook or Twitter to groom children or young people for abuse.
- The power of coaches and other people over disabled children or young people, if misused, could also lead to abusive situations developing.

1.3 Disability, Vulnerability and Abuse

Not every child or young person with disabilities is vulnerable in every situation. However it can be said that certain factors may mean that disabled children or young people are more vulnerable and could therefore be more open to abuse. The following list examines some of the reasons why disabled people may be more vulnerable:

- Individuals with dependency and support needs may have found that it is easier to be pleasing and compliant than challenge those caring for them because of the consequences. Any challenge or complaint could lead to more abusive practice or retribution.
- Continuing dependency on others may make some people feel powerless.
- Lack of education regarding personal, sexual and social skills and lack of information about individual rights, together with feelings of isolation and rejection, may make some disabled people more vulnerable. This includes those sports people with a sensory impairment who have not had the opportunity to learn appropriate and inappropriate touching or guiding.

- A physical impairment may prevent individuals from defending themselves by being able to physically move away from a situation.
- Communication difficulties may make it hard to complain or be understood. This could be that the individual is unable to speak to tell anyone or does not have the vocabulary to describe what has happened to them.
- Individuals requiring intimate care could be in an increased vulnerable situation, especially if they have to rely on a number of different carers to support their needs.
- The general thought that no-one would abuse a disabled person, for whatever reason, has meant that procedures for reporting abuse have not been in place as it has been felt that they are not necessary.
- There may be misuse of treatments, for example, inappropriate use of medication or carers not being properly instructed or adhering to a care plan.
- The general thought that disabled people are not abused may make it difficult for them to be believed if they report an incident.
- Intrusion into body space for physical and medical care can lead to disabled people never developing ownership of their own bodies.
- Some individuals may be unable to recognise or understand abusive situations and behaviour by others, both potential and actual.
- The stress that some parents and carers experience from looking after a disabled person may lead to abuse. Parents especially are often seen as pillars of strength and wonderfully caring when they are, in fact, struggling to manage.
- Some visually impaired sports people may not be able to read the facial expressions or body language or other people around them. They may also not be aware that another person or a number of people are near them.
- There may be occasions when a visually impaired person would need to ask a stranger for help; this could potentially be an opportunity for the sports person to be abused.

2. Policy Statement

Disability Sport Northern Ireland and Live Active NI acknowledges the duty of care to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and is committed to ensuring its safeguarding practice reflects statutory responsibilities, government guidance and complies with best practice.

The policy recognised that the welfare and interests of children and young people are paramount in all circumstances. It aims to ensure that regardless of age, ability or disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation, socio-economic background, all children and young people

- have a positive and enjoyable experience in sport with Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI in a safe environment; and
- are protected from abuse whilst participating in sport and active recreation activities.

3. Implementing the Policy

Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI will endeavour to safeguard children and young people by:

- Following carefully Recruitment and Selection procedures to check the suitability of employees and volunteers to work with children and young people.
- Train staff and volunteers on issues related to the protection of children and young people and of their responsibilities under the organisation's 'Guidelines of Good Practice'.
- Adopting a 'Staff/Volunteer Code of Conduct' for the protection of children and young people.
- Reporting concerns about suspected abuse to the relevant statutory agencies.

4. Recruitment and Selection of Staff and Volunteers

To ensure that unsuitable people are prevented from working with children and young people within its programmes the following recruitment and selection process will be implemented for all applicants for paid and voluntary positions which may involve regularly caring for, training, supervision or being in sole charge of children or young people .

Recruitment & Selection Process (see Recruitment and Selection Policy for full details):

Employees

- Specific jobs will have a tailored application form based on the position.
- All application forms are designed to illicit information about an applicant's past career, including any gaps, and to establish any criminal record in accordance with current Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (exceptions) – Amendment Order 1986.
- Consent is required from applicants (if required depending on the position – see guidance on vetting systems) for an 'Enhanced Disclosure' check (included in application form). This means that applicants will be subject to both DHSS and Police checks prior to appointment, using the service provided by Access NI.
- Two referees are required. Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI will check references, in writing prior to confirmation of appointment. There are measures in place to ensure confidentiality of information received in relation to all applicants.
- All appointments will be made following interview, and subject to receipt of an 'Enhanced Disclosure' certificate from Access NI (if necessary for that particular job) and two satisfactory references.

Volunteers

- Individual volunteers will be required to complete an application form which includes their personal details and the areas of work they would like to be involved in.
- All application forms are designed to illicit information about a volunteer's past to establish any criminal record in accordance with current Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (exceptions) – Amendment Order 1986.

- Volunteers will only be required to give consent for an Access NI check if their particular role falls into the 'regulated activity' category (see guidance on vetting systems).
- All volunteers will be required to sign the 'Volunteer Code of Conduct' and will also receive an induction for the area of work they are volunteering in.

5. Training

All Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI staff will receive training in relation to the protection of children and young people. Staff will be made aware of their role in the protection of children and young people and how to recognise various forms of abuse.

Regular volunteers who have unsupervised access to children and young people will also receive training in relation to the protection of children and young people. Volunteers will be made aware of their role in the protection of children and young people and how to recognise various forms of abuse.

To ensure that children and young people with disabilities are treated with dignity and respect at all times, staff and volunteers will sign a 'Code of Conduct'.

6. Staff/Volunteer Guidelines of Good Practice

All staff and volunteers should be encouraged to demonstrate exemplary behaviour in order to promote children and young people's welfare and reduce the likelihood of allegations being made. The following are common sense practices of how to create a positive culture and environment for all children and young people.

6.1 Minimizing Situations where abuse may occur.

Staff and volunteers have a responsibility to minimize situations where abuse may occur by implementing the following procedures:

6.1.1. General Procedures

- Always be publicly open when working with children or young people . Avoid situations where you are alone with children or young people and completely unobserved.
- Individual members of staff/volunteers should avoid spending excessive amounts of time with children or young people away from others.
- On occasions it may be necessary for performance staff to work with athletes on a one to one basis. Where this occurs, parental consent should be given in advance and sessions should be held in a public environment and in view of others (for example a hall in a public leisure centre).

6.1.2. Procedures for Events or Participation & Coaching Activities

(See appendix 2 for Procedures for Travelling to 'Away' Competitions/Overnight Trips – (see Competition Travel Policy for further information))

- Entry/Booking Forms: Entry/Booking Forms must be completed by the parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders of all children and young people before they are allowed to participate in Disability Sport NI or Live Active NI's events or participation and coaching activities.
- Staff Ratios: Staff to participant ratios for Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI events or participation and coaching activities will be assessed on an individual basis for each activity taking into account the following factors:
 - The age of the participants involved (ie the lower the age, the greater need for supervision).
 - The specific support needs of the participants involved.
 - The degree of risk involved in the activity.
 - The availability of supervision staff/coaches at hosting venues/organisations.
- Accident/Injury/Illness: A record of any injury sustained during participation in a Disability Sport NI or Live Active NI event or programme or the occurrence of any illness among participants must be recorded by Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI staff/volunteers. This must be recorded in the accident book and reported to the Finance and Business Manager as soon as possible. Any occurrence of injury/illness must be notified to parents/guardians or teacher/group/coaches as soon as possible.
- Changing / Intimate Personal Care: At all Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI events and programmes changing and the provision of intimate personal care is the responsibility of parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders.
- However, in exceptional circumstances when parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders are not available staff may feel it is appropriate to assist with changing/personal care in order to maintain the safety, dignity or wellbeing of a child or young person. Where this is the case, staff may only do so with the permission of the child or young person.
- The Lifting, Manual Support and Transferring of Disabled Children and Young People at all Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI events and programmes is the responsibility of parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders.
- However, in exceptional circumstances when parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders are not available staff may feel it is appropriate to assist with lifting, manual support or transferring of a child or young person in order to maintain the safety, dignity or wellbeing of a child or young person. Where this is the case, staff may only do so with the permission of the child or young person.

- Transport: Where transport is provided/organised by Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI, vehicles should be roadworthy and appropriate to the needs of children and young people. Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI staff or volunteers should also be in attendance on the transport.
- Individual members of staff should avoid offering lifts to children and young people. However in some instances, particularly within the performance sport environment there may be justification for giving lifts on occasions. The request must come from the parent/guardian and written permission is provided in advance of the journey. Where this is requested, staff may only agree if they feel the justification is valid and appropriate.
- Collection from Events or Participation & Coaching Activities is the responsibility of parents/guardians or teachers/group leaders.

If a child or young person is not picked up after an event or programme, staff/volunteers should take the following action:

- Try to contact the parent, guardian or carer.
- Wait with the child or young person at the venue, wherever possible with other staff or volunteers and in a public place.

Do Not:

- Take the child or young person to your own home or another location.
- Ask the child/young person to wait with you in your vehicle or sports facility with you alone.
- Send the child/young person home with another person without permission.

6.1.3. Guidelines on appropriate ways to capture, store and distribute photos, videos and recordings (see Audio Visual Policy for more information)

There is evidence that some people have used sporting events as an opportunity to take inappropriate photographs or film footage of children or young people in vulnerable positions. There is also evidence that some people actively seek out opportunities to photograph or film disabled children and young persons in particular.

To avoid the inappropriate use of images of children and young people involved in Disability Sport NI's and Live Active NI's programmes staff/volunteers need to follow these guidelines:

- There is an official Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI camera that is kept in a locked cupboard in the office. Please ask the Communications & Engagement Officer or Finance & Business Manager if you would like to use the camera. We advise that where possible you use this for all photo, video and voice recordings associated with both organisations.

- You must have verbal permission from the parent or individual/organisation with permission to consent on behalf of the parent to take any recordings whether visual or audio of a child or young person under 18 years old and have advised on what it will be used for. Where possible you should obtain a signed parental consent form. There are parental consent forms on the data drive that can be sent out prior to a known engagement or taken along to an open session. Once verbal or written consent has been granted it is polite to then verbally ask the child or young person's permission. (Please find blank forms and save completed forms under Data – Photos – Photo Consent Forms on the Disability Sport NI internal server).
- You must have verbal consent to take any recordings whether visual or audio of anyone over 18 years old including from parents, careers or an individual/organisation with permission to act on behalf of the parent and have advised on what it will be used for. Where possible you should seek written permission using the same consent form as outlined above.
- When using an image or video of a child or young person please do not reference their name alongside the image unless parental consent has been granted to do so. Please do not use imagery to establish a pattern of a specific child or young person's attendance by sharing them in real time with information on the child, the venue, the time and the name of the session or club.
- If you see any imagery or recordings that reflect poorly on Disability Sport NI or Live Active NI, please notify the Communications and Engagement Officer and do not engage directly with the source of them.
- When engaging with external photographers, videographers or press please do not leave them unsupervised with service users of any age and ensure that they have been briefed on this policy.
- Please encourage parents or guardians to take photos or videos and share them with us as appropriate rather than us taking them.
- When storing images, video and recordings please save them to the Data Drive and ensure that they are categorised appropriately by folder names. Please do not store images locally to laptops, phones, memory pens and tablets for more than 48 hours where possible.
- Please ensure that all subjects of imagery are appropriately dressed. In sports including but not limited to swimming or gymnastics where you are in doubt please seek advice from the Communications and Engagement Officer.
- When saving imagery to the Data Drive please ensure that you delete any that you feel are not of a reasonable quality and therefore will never likely be used.

6.2 Staff/Volunteer Code of Conduct

Staff and volunteers working with children or young persons have a responsibility to behave appropriately as outlined in the following 'Code of Behaviour':

Staff and volunteers should:

- Treat everyone with dignity and respect.
- Provide an example you wish others to follow.
- Plan activities so that they involve more than one other person being present, or at least in sight or hearing of others.
- Respect a child or young person's right to personal privacy.
- Provide access for children and young people to feel comfortable enough to point out attitudes or behaviour they do not like and provide a caring atmosphere.
- Use common sense when demonstrating skills e.g. discuss and explain your actions with children and young people when physical contact is necessary.
- Remember that someone else might misinterpret your actions, no matter how well intentioned.
- Recognise that caution is required especially in sensitive moments of counselling, such as when dealing with bullying, bereavement or abuse.

Staff and volunteers should never:

- Engage in rough, physical or sexually provocative games, including horseplay with children or young people.
- Allow or engage in inappropriate touching of any form.
- Allow children or young people to use inappropriate language unchallenged.
- Let allegations a child or young person makes go unchallenged, unrecorded or not acted on.
- Do things of a personal nature that a child or young person can do for his/her self.
- Allow abusive youth peer activities (e.g. ridiculing, bullying).
- Have inappropriate physical or verbal contact with others.
- Allow yourself to be drawn into inappropriate attention seeking behaviour such as tantrums or crushes but deal firmly and fairly with such behaviour at all times.
- Exaggerate or trivialise child abuse issues.
- Show favoritism to any individual.
- Make sexually suggestive remarks or gestures or tell jokes or stories of a 'smutty' nature, to children or young people.
- Rely on your good name to protect you it may not be enough!
- Believe "it can never happen to me" it can!
- Get close to or have physical contact with a child or young person without clearly explaining what you are doing (e.g. correcting the position of a foot, showing a skill in the water) etc.

If a member of staff accidentally hurts or distresses a child or young person in any way or if a child or young person appears to become sexually aroused or misunderstands something which that person has done it should be reported as soon as possible to another colleague and a brief written note made. Parents or carers should be informed of the incident.

6.3 Recognition of inappropriate behaviour which can occur between an adult and a child or young person

Staff and volunteers have a responsibility to recognise the following types of inappropriate behaviour which can occur between an adult and a child or young person:

- Petting or Fondling;
- Inappropriate physical contact between an adult and a child or young person;
- Sexually explicit behaviour in games etc;
- Adults behaving suspiciously e.g. watching children or young people in changing area/cubicle/toilet area when no obvious reason for their presence there;
- Those who are spending an inordinately long time in changing area/cubicle/toilet area;
- Adults who have strayed into an area restricted for children or young people only;
- Those who are seen looking over/under cubicles;
- Those who appear to have an interest in more than one cubicle;
- Adults whose behaviour is causing distress to children or young people e.g. rough play, horse play; and
- Use of inappropriate language in the presence of children or young people.

Staff or volunteers witnessing any of this behaviour should report their observations immediately, in line with the guidelines outlined in Section 6.5.

BUT REMEMBER DO NOT ACCUSE OR LEAP TO CONCLUSIONS

It is not the responsibility of staff/volunteers to decide whether or not abuse has taken place. It is important however, that they report any concerns/suspicious to the appropriate person.

6.4 Responding to Suspicions or Allegations of Child Abuse/ Inappropriate Behaviour

Listening to the child or young person

- React calmly so as not to frighten the child or young person.
- Tell the child or young person that they are not to blame and that it was right to tell.
- Take what the child or young person says seriously, recognising the difficulties inherent in interpreting what a child or young person, with learning or communication difficulties, and/or differences in language, says. Do not probe. Do not lead.
- Keep questions to an absolute minimum necessary to ensure a clear and accurate understanding of what has been said.
- Always re-assure the child or young person, but do not make promises of confidentiality, which might not be feasible in the light of subsequent developments.
- Make a full record of what has been said, heard and/or seen as soon as possible, as outlined below in paragraph 6.5.

6.5 Recording Suspicions or Allegations of Child Abuse/ Inappropriate

Behaviour

Staff/volunteers are instructed to record all information and actions taken in relation to the reported incident on a Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI 'Incident Record Form' (Appendix 1).

Information to be recorded should include:

- The nature of the allegation.
- A description of any visible bruising or other injuries.
- The child or young person's account and/or account of any accompanying adult of what has happened.
- Any times dates or other relevant information.
- A clear distinction between what is fact, opinion or hearsay.
- Reporting the matter to the Police or Social Services should however not be delayed by attempts to attain information.
- Records should be securely maintained and only viewed by appropriate personnel, Social Services or the Police.

Reporting the matter to the police or social services should not be delayed by attempts to obtain more information. Wherever possible, referrals should be confirmed in writing within 24 hours. A record should also be made of the social services member of staff or police officer to whom the concerns were passed, together with the date and time of the call, in case any follow up is needed.

If the person is a child or young person and you feel you need further support and advice, contact the NSPCC Helpline on 0800 800 500.

6.6. Reporting Suspicions or Allegations of Child Abuse/Inappropriate Behaviour.

What to do if ...

If a child or young person says or indicates that he or she is being abused, or information is obtained which gives concerns that a child or young person is being abused, the person receiving the information should:

- React calmly so as not to frighten the sports child or young person.
- Take what the sports child or young person says seriously, recognising the difficulties inherent in interpreting what is said by a child or young person who may have speech impairment and/or differences in language.
- Keep questions to an absolute minimum necessary to ensure a clear and accurate understanding of what has been said.
- Do not ask leading questions, for example, as "Were you hit?" rather than "Did John hit you?".
- Reassure the child or young person but do not make promises of confidentiality which might not be feasible in the light of subsequent developments.

- Make a full record of what had been said, heard and/or seen as soon as possible and explain that you will have to take this information to Disability Sport NI and Live Active Designated Safeguarding Officer.
- Treat the written record as being strictly confidential.
- Report your concerns immediately to Disability Sport NI and Live Active NIs Designated Safeguarding Officer who can then take appropriate action or advice you on the action to take.

Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI Designated Safeguarding Officers are:

Karen Drennan (Finance and Business Manager)
Telephone (Daytime): 028 9046 9925
Evening/Weekends: 07730 309081

Deputy Designated Safeguarding Officer:

Elaine Reid, Performance Sport Manager
Telephone (Daytime): 028 9046 9925
Evening/Weekends: 07736 065772

It may be that a child or young person has indicated to you in ways other than speech, or his/her preferred method of communication, that abuse may be occurring. If this is the case, record what you have seen in detail.

It is never easy to take action in cases of abuse. You may be upset and worried about the impact of reporting the concern of the child or young person, the club and or the organisation to which you belong, the individual suspected of being an abuser and so on. You may also be unsure as to whether you have understood the disabled child or young person properly because, for example, of a speech impairment.

Remember – it is not your responsibility to decide whether or not abuse has taken place but it is your responsibility to act on what a child or young person tells you.

What to do if ...

You are concerned about the behaviour of a parent or relative:

Wherever possible, there should be a commitment to work in partnership with parents, relatives or guardians when there are concerns about disabled sports children and young persons. However, in some circumstances, a disabled child or young person may be placed at even greater risk if such concerns were shared, if, for example, the concerns were about the parents, relatives or guardians being responsible for the abuse.

The following action is suggested:

- Report your concerns to Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI Designated Safeguarding Officer. If the person is not available, then the person discovering or being informed of the abuse should immediately contact local social services or the local police.

Information passed to the social services department or the police should be as helpful as possible, hence the necessity for making a detailed record outlined in 6.5.

What to do if...

You are concerned about the behaviour of a member of staff or a volunteer.

This would include anyone working with disabled sports children or young people in a paid or voluntary capacity, for example, coaches, drivers, team managers, officials etc.

- Report your concerns to Disability Sport NI and Live Active's Designated Safeguarding Officer who will then take appropriate action in accordance with the organisation's procedures.

If Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI's Designated Safeguarding Officer is not available, the person discovering or being informed of the suspected abuse should immediately contact the local social services department or the local police. They should be able to give you support and advice.

Sometimes parents find it very hard to believe that an adult they know and trust could have abused their son or daughter. This may especially be the case if the suspected abuser has been able to give the family some respite from caring for the disabled person, by for example, taking him or her to competitions or outdoor activity holidays. If parents do not feel there is a need for further action and you believe that there is, report your concerns to local social services. If this is not possible, report the matter to your local police station.

A complaint of abuse against a member of staff could result in three types of investigation:

1. A disciplinary or misconduct investigation.
2. A child protection investigation.
3. A criminal investigation.

The results of the police and child protection investigation may well influence the disciplinary investigation, but not necessarily.

It is recognised that it is not easy to believe that a colleague or friend may be abusing a child or young person. The organisation should assure all staff and volunteers that they will be fully supported and protected if they have, in good faith, reported their concerns over a colleague's behaviour towards a child or young person.

If an allegation is found to be false, the organisation should do all that it can to enable the coach or volunteer to continue working within sport and recreation.

What to do if...

You are concerned about the behaviour of another child or young person

A child or young person could act in an inappropriate way for a number of reasons, for example:

- They may have learned the behaviour from copying another person or experienced it themselves.
- They have the opportunity to control another person.
- They may be feeling angry or frustrated about something and cannot find another way to express their feelings.
- They may have difficulty in communicating with others and again become frustrated.
- They may be frightened or anxious about something.
- They may not be aware of what is the right way and the wrong way to act.
- They may have limited knowledge about relationships and accepted sexual boundaries.
- They may not be supervised appropriately.
- They may have limited personal space and privacy.
- They may not like the people they are being asked to mix with.
- Their medication may be affecting their behaviour.

Record the behaviour you are concerned about using the form (Appendix 1). Report your concerns to the Disability Sport NI and Live Active NI's Designated Safeguarding Officer who can advise you on the next step which could be:

- Talking to the child or young person or observing the situations when their behaviour causes concern – it may be easy to change the behaviour by, for example, moving the child or young person from one coaching group to another if there is a clash of personalities.
- Discussing the behaviour which causes concern with relatives and carers, if relevant, to see if they have noticed it and what steps could be taken together with the child or young person to change it.
- Referring your concerns to other professionals if the behaviour is too challenging to manage in the above ways.
- Referring the child or young person to the terms of membership of your club or organisation which refer to the conduct of members to other members, coaches, volunteers and staff.
- Working through the procedures outlined in the section dealing with 'What to do if a child or young person indicates that he or she is being abused'.
